Once we have forwarded your application to communities, they have 7 days in which to object. If no objection is received, we go ahead and issue the permits.

Under the Aboriginal Affairs Planning Authority (AAPA) Act 1972, Section (31), transit permits are required for any person visiting or passing through an Aboriginal Reserve subject to Part III of the AAPA Act, unless s/he is:

- A person of Aboriginal Descent;
- A member of either House of Parliament of the State or of the Commonwealth;
- A person lawfully exercising a function under the AAPA Act or otherwise acting in pursuance of a duty imposed by law (Public Servants – work related only); or
- A person authorized in that behalf under the regulations of the AAPA Act (has a permit)

If you are required to enter any Aboriginal Community subject to part III of the AAPA Act, for work or any other purpose (including scientific research or flora and fauna studies), please be aware that you must give plenty of notice so that the approval of the resident community, the Traditional Owners, and the appropriate council is received before a permit is issued by the Ngaanyatjarra Council.

Some permits for other areas of Western Australia, and the Northern Territory are issued by other organizations, such as the Aboriginal Lands Trust or the Central Land Council.

If you have any concerns regarding this please feel free to contact our Permit Officers.
